Selection criteria applied

Curricula are evaluated on the basis of three main criteria:

- 1) relevance of applicant's studies and professional experience / current job position to the topics of the Summer School programme
- 2) balanced geographical distribution of selected participants (OECD / non-OECD members; distribution per continent; inclusion of applicants from Countries non represented in the previous editions)
- 3) balanced distribution of educational background (e.g. economics; environmental engineering; law; public administration; ...)

Moreover, in the case of curricula with similar score, also some attention is given to the selection of profiles with expertise in different sectors relevant to the domain of regulation of LPS (e.g. water cycle, waste, energy, etc.).

Due to a limited number of available places, not all applicants on the ISS reserve list will be included in the class of 2015. However, those on the reserve list will benefit from a 25% off discount for attending one of the courses in the Executive Education Programme.
